

United States District Court
District of South Carolina

Date: December 4, 2002

Subject: Inclement Weather

Notice

During periods of extremely bad weather, announcements are made on radio and television alerting the public about delays or closings of government buildings. Even when such announcements address the status of federal buildings and agencies, these announcements do not always correctly describe the status of our court. Generally, the court acts independently and may or may not follow the lead of federal agencies in the community or even in the same building.
